LLOYD MULLEN | PORT TOWNSEND (WASHINGTON) AND JEFFERSON COUNTY LEADER

Mike Howell, owner of Howell's Sandwich Co., tears up as he CLOSES HIS SHOP to the public on March 20. Restaurants and shops like Howell's have had to shut their doors and lay off employees to stop the spread of the coronavirus. Doing their part to help prevent the public health crisis comes with a price for local business owners who don't know how they will survive financially.

MITCHELL B. KELLER | DODGE COUNTY PIONIER, MAYVILLE, WISCONSIN

Horicon High School alum Marli Olson flashes the international symbol for PEACE following the class of 2020's historic outdoor graduation commencement ceremony and citywide parade. District administrators referred to the ceremony as the first of its kind in Horicon.

MOURNERS AND PROTESTERS solemnly visit a memorial at Babe's Bar, in Bethel, to honor George Floyd and other black Americans killed by police last month. Further protests are planned for June 6 in Randolph and South Royalton as well as a march on June 13 in Bethel.

KRISTA TACEY-CATER | THE HOUGHTON LAKE (MICHIGAN) RESORTER

THE BARBER IS IN! Barber Todd DeLisle, owner of Bruno's Barber Shop at Houghton Lake, started cutting hair at 7:40 a.m. Wednesday morning. When it was announced barber shops and salons could open June 10, DeLisle said he was eagerly anticipating the opening of his shop, which closed in mid-March due to the Stay Home, Stay Safe executive order. "I couldn't even sleep last night," DeLisle said. "I was ready." Jim Kolts of Houghton Lake was the second person in DeLisle's chair that morning. He said the last time he'd gotten a haircut was in mid-March, just before the order was put in place.

SAMANTHA PERSINGER | THE EAGLE (CHADRON, NEBRASKA)

MISS JULIE, played by Shanie Hollenback, thinks about running away while Jean, played by Ryan Arab, stands in the background during Chadron State College Theater Departments's performance of "Miss Julie," Nov. 12, 2019 at the college's Black Box Theater.

ZACHARY CARLSON | THE EAGLE (CHADRON, NEBRASKA)

CSC alumnus Travis Clark, of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, works to put a TRACKING COLLAR on a wild sheep during Game and Parks' annual Bighorn sheep capture Feb. 14, 2020, at locations around Chadron and Crawford, Nebraska. The capture allows researchers to evaluate the health of local sheep before being released back into the wild.

BRANDON DAVENPORT | THE EAGLE (CHADRON, NEBRASKA)

A TRIO OF BIGHORN SHEEP hang from the bottom of a helicopter owned and operated by Native Capture Services, Feb. 14, 2020, in the Pine Ridge southwest of Chadron, Nebraska. As part of the Nebraska Game & Parks Commission's annual Bighorn sheep capture, the helicopter crew tracked, netted and delivered sheep to drop zones where they received a battery of tests to evaluate the health of the herd.

MARK DELAP | PLATTE COUNTY RECORD-TIMES (WHEATLAND, WYOMING)

MULE DEER are prevalent in the Laramie Range of Wyoming on the eastern edge of the Rocky Mountains. They are curious animals and because they don't have a lot of human contact, they are almost fearless. This large group of "mulies" were spotted off of Highway 34 in Platte County, Wyoming.

PETE LUNA | UVALDE (TEXAS) LEADER-NEWS

Rosa Schulz sits on her bed and looks at her NEW AC UNIT, which Angelica Silva found for her last week after realizing Schulz didn't have a way to stay comfortable in the Texas heat. Walking to and from locations for necessities like groceries is a daily part of 81-year-old Uvalde resident Schulz's life. But on Tuesday, with an outdoor temperature that neared 100 degrees, Silva offered Schulz a ride home – and then everything changed. Silva mobilized an army of volunteers that has rallied around Schulz, bringing her food, updating appliances and repairing her home.
